Peddlers Must Have License.

Michael Longo has been appointed to keep tabs on peddlers who come into Killingly and do business without having a license. The idea is to protect the interests of the business men who live here, pay rent and taxes and all of the other incidental expenses of carrying on trade and of living. For a long time there has been a desire on the part of business men and others who have their interests at heart for action that would require peddlers to pay something for the privilege of doing business in this town whenever they see fit to run in and stay for a day or two. These peddlers are held to be of no commercial value to Killingly, nor to the people they come here to serve. They are regarded as illegitimate traders in the sense that they meet none of the obligations of supporting the town and institutions within it, as do the resident business men, therefore Mr. Longo is appointed to look them up and is on their trail. Mr. Longo is earnest for the job and will be heard from as time goes on.

In Putnam the city requires that all transient vendors take out a license before they attempt to offer their wares for sale and the rule is rigidly enforced. The licensing plan was introduced during the administration of ex-Mayor J. J. McGarry and several thousand dollars have come into the city's treasury since that time as tribute from vendors well able to pay for an opportunity to compete against the city's business men.

NATIVE OF DANIELSON.

Attorney Warren D. Chase, prominent in hearing at Washington.

Attorney Warren D. Chase, who testified at Washington before the Interstate Commerce commission Wednesday relative to the details of the Metropolitan Steamship company's organization, is a Danielson young man, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Chase of Main street. At present, as Chase is considerably under 30, he is located in Hartford, where he has a very successful manufacturing business in a line that brings him tribute from all sections of the United States within the "frost belt" and from the Dominion of Canada. He is also associated in partnership with Judge Harry E. Back of Danielson as a member of the law firm of Back and Chase.

Attorney Chase is a graduate of the local high school and of Leland Stanford university. Always a brilliant student he early attracted the attention of important interests of the state and made an exceedingly rapid climb to prominence and wealth. He was a law student in the office of Judge Back here when he left Danielson to become associated with the legal department of the New Haven road, with which he severed his connection to build up from a small beginning a manufacturing industry that has netted him a fortune within a few years. Mr. Chase is not yet forty years of age, is considerably under 30, in fact. He has scores of friends in Danielson and all of the surrounding towns, and they are for him every minute. They read with interest Thursday of his testimony relative to his forming the big corporation referred to so prominently in Washington despatch and will await with interest the further testimony on the subject that the despatches announce he is expected to give.

MISS TANNER WON.

Voluntary Student at K. H. S. Awarded $10 Farnum Prize for Essay.

Miss Minae Tanner of Voluntary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Tanner, has brought additional honor to Killingly High school second only to that achieved by herself in being awarded the state prize offered to students in the high schools in Connecticut for the best essay of not more than 1,500 words on the subject, The History of Civil Service Reform. At the high school Thursday morning, Miss Tanner was presented the prize of $10 by Mrs. Marinda C. Butler Robinson, who last fall announced the terms under which the essays were to be written and submitted. Mrs. Robinson's talk in connection with the presentation was listened to with exceptional interest by the students and members of the faculty.

Prizes totalling $50, a gift for the purpose to Mrs. Robinson by Professor Henry B. Farnum of Yale university, were offered last fall to students of high schools that would enter the essay writing contest on the subject mentioned. A prize of $5 was to go to the best of the student in each of eight high schools, these winners to submit the prize winning essays to judges named to select one that would be awarded the state prize. The judges were not to have knowledge as to the identity of the authors of the essays that came to them for examination.

Miss Tanner won in the competition in Killingly High school and so secured the right to enter the contest in competition for the higher honor. The judges who reviewed the prize winning essays that came in from the eight high schools—in Danbury, Cheshire, Waterbury, Wallingford, Stamford, Thompson, Williamstown, Killingly—were Professor Farnum of Yale university and Mr. Moore of the Civil Service Federation of Connecticut. They unhesitatingly selected Miss Tanner's essay as entitled to receive the prize and are quoted as describing it as distinctly superior to all of the others.

Miss Tanner wore her honors modestly Thursday, although showered with congratulations. She is a member of the senior class to be graduated next month and has made an enviable record as a student during her four years in Killingly High school which is proud to claim her.

The art exhibit at the high school brought in something over $90. This money is to be expended for materials for the school. The prize pictures to the rooms selling the most tickets go to the eighth grade and sophomore rooms. The former sold the largest number of tickets. The prize pictures are Core's Dance of the Nymphs and Stafford-on-Avon.

High School Girls Serve Delicious Lunch.

A small party of professional and business men was entertained at luncheon at the high school Thursday noon by the members of the freshmen cooking class. All the praise that the gentlemen showered upon the young cooks would have made the latter very happy and very proud of their culinary accomplishments could they but have heard what was said. The menu included fruit salad, soup, beef loaf, fried potatoes, salmon salad, rolls, pudding, cheese and coffee, all served in most appetizing manner.

RED FIRE AND MUSIC.

Big Clean-up Week Parade Thursday Evening Arouses Enthusiasm.

There was much red fire, great enthusiasm and considerable elation in connection with the parade in honor of Clean-up week. The Catholic band escorted the procession through streets in the business centre, the whole being viewed by a large percentage of the population. After the parade there was an entertainment that was witnessed by a very large audience, the profits to go into the fund for the clean-up campaign.

Saturday afternoon there is to be another parade. Cards are being coming down from North Grosvenordale to participate and special cars are to be run from the business section to the parade grounds. That is coming along with the military organization, which is to give an exhibition drill somewhere in the business section. Boy Scout patrols from this city and from Pomfret are to take part in the Saturday afternoon procession.

EMPLOYS 400 MEN.

New Industry Which May Come Through Business Men's Association.

Putnam stands in line to get two new industries as the result of the activity of the rejuvenated Business Men's association. Correspondence has been carried on with the management of a concern that employs 400 men and a favorable impression created for Putnam, which has many of the facilities which the concern is looking for and does not have some of the things that the concern is anxious to be rid of where it is now located—labor troubles, for instance.

Auto Firetruck, Pro and Con.

There was a great deal of discussion Thursday over the proposition that the city purchase a motor firetruck. The matter is to be decided, at all probability, at a special city meeting, called for Wednesday. It is evident that the meeting will be one of the most largely attended of any similar gathering held here in a long while. There is a very strong sentiment in favor of purchasing the apparatus and, of course, there is some opposition to the proposition. Those favoring the plan point to the fact that fire losses in Putnam within the past two years might have been reduced more than five times the amount that a truck would cost had the city owned one of the rapidly moving, right-on-the-job motor apparatus. Those opposing the plan point to the fact that Putnam's fire losses have been so large within the past two years that an increase in insurance rates is one of the possibilities if something is not done to improve, or at least to increase, the fire-fighting power of the city. Those opposed to spending $2,000 for a motor truck for the fire department are altogether opposed to the plan on the grounds of economy in expenditures or are offering a substitute proposition along the lines of buying a cheaper and ordinary motor truck, and equipping it with hose and extinguishers.

HORSE STEALING ALLEGED.

Charles A. Davis, Alias Arthur Bliss, Arrested in Dayville Mill by Rhode Island Officer.

Charles A. Davis, alias Arthur Bliss, under which name he has been known in this section, was arrested at the mill of the Assawaggon Woolen company in Dayville Thursday by Deputy Sheriff George F. Holbrook of this city and Deputy Sheriff Roscoe Wood of Harrisville, R. I. The Rhode Island officer had a warrant charging Davis with stealing a horse, a harness and a wagon from William Hodgman in the town of Erving, near Miller's Falls, Mass., June 11, 1913.

Davis denied that he was guilty of the charge against him, but he was taken in charge by the officers, brought to Putnam in Sheriff Holbrook's automobile and later taken away by Sheriff Wood. Davis was found at work in the mill and his identification was made positive not only by photographs of him that the officers were in possession of, but by his own admission.

It is related that Davis was located as the result of a conversation he is alleged to have had with a Putnam man, which conversation, it is also alleged, was overheard by a Killingly man, known as a horse trader and who happened to know about the horse that had been stolen from Mr. Hodgman at Erving. How much evidence there is against Davis could not be learned here Thursday.

Nothing Discovered in Pomfret Burglary.

Not a thing has developed that has helped solve the mystery of the burglaries at the Bradley mansion and the cottages on the estate in Pomfret last week. It has been difficult in every case of breaks at Pomfret during the last few months to find clues of value and there is no exception in the last instance.

Miss Katherine Hamman of Providence was the guest here Thursday of her aunt Mrs. John Brennan of Church street.

EIGHTY INCORPORATORS.

Interested in Pushing Proposed Trolley Line to Stafford Springs.

A meeting of the incorporators of the recently proposed railroad line to run from Chepachet, R. I., westward toward this city and on through the Woodstock into Eastford and eventually to Stafford Springs is to be held in Odd Fellows' hall here next Wednesday afternoon.

There is a list of 80 proposed incorporators, men who have shown interest in promoting the plan and who have shown in greater or lesser degree a willingness to aid in its promotion. Notice of next Wednesday's meeting was not sent out until Wednesday, but up to Thursday afternoon 26 favorable replies had been received by George L. Baldwin of this city, indicating that all who had written would be here for the meeting. The list of incorporators has not been released for publication yet, but it contains the names of men influential and of high standing in the communities where they live and which communities would be served by the proposed road.

PLAINFIELD

Washout Repaired—Local Interest in Work of Dr. Dwight Tracy—The Old Fry Mills Recalled.

Mrs. John Dodge went to Providence Wednesday to visit relatives.

Mrs. William H. Devolve and Master Henry Devolve were callers in Central Village Wednesday.

John Newton is repairing the washout at the arch bridge on Railroad avenue, near the crossing, and when finished it ought to last a generation. Another family has moved into the front tenement of the old Plainfield hotel.

Mrs. Carl Mathewson took a Norwich trip Wednesday.

Charlie Kennedy has finished work in the mill for the summer and will devote most of his time to gardening. "Are you going to the circus?" is the question these days, and the usual answer is "I suppose I shall have to take the kids."

The Old Fry Mills. The old Fry mills (grist and sawing) were one of the old time industries of Plainfield. Corn and other grain were taken to the Fry mill by farmers for miles around and the sawmill was always busy when there was enough water. After Mr. Fry's death his family let the mill or hired a miller until the home was broken up by the death of Miss Julia Fry, the last of the daughters. Among those who worked in the old mills were John Dawley, Albert C. Greene, Jeremiah Greene, Lawrence McGee, Jacob A. Bennett and Turner E. Greene. Meat was never sweeter than that made by the old stone.

91 Year Old Pioneer Thanks Duffy's

"Grand Old Age and How To Attain It" has been told hundreds of times by willing testimonials to the fact that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey actually delays the effects of old age and brings back the vivacity and versatility of youth to its grateful users. Here's another achievement to its wonderful record:

"In 1835 I landed in New York after a voyage of about eight weeks from Germany, then to Buffalo via the Erie Canal, staying in Buffalo a short time. We started through the woods for our future home, known as the 'Hymen Homestead' to this day. Our family consisted of nine children, and not having much money to start with, we had the experience of the early pioneers. Later, as I grew up, I became interested in the milling business, farming, cattle dealer—worked hard for a good many years, and the famous John Miller, at that time one of the leading doctors in this section, said my time was short, so for the last 25 years or more I have been using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and I am thankful to say that I am well and healthy at 91 years and hope to make a good record yet."—Conrad Hyman, Strikersville, N. Y.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey
